D. APPLETON & CO.'S NEW BOOKS.

A. CONAN DOYLE'S NEW NOVEL.

A DUET, WITH AN OCCASIONAL CHORUS.

By A. CONAN DOYLE, author of "Uncle Bernac," "Brigadier Gerard," "Rodney Stone," etc. Uniform with other books by Dr. Doyle. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

"Charming is the one word to describe this volume adequately. Dr. Doyle's crisp style and his rare wit and refined humor, utilized with cheerful art that is perfect of its kind, fill these chapters with joy and gladness for the reader."—Philadelphia Press.

"'A Duet' is bright, brave, simple, natural, delicate. It is the most artistic and most original thing that its author has done. . . . We can heartily recommend 'A Duet' to all classes of readers. It is a good book to put into the hands of the young of either sex. It will interest the general reader, and it should delight the critic, for it is a work of art. This story taken with the best of his previous work gives Dr. Doyle a very high place in modern letters."—Chicago Times-Herald.

EDUCATION BY DEVELOPMENT.

By FRIEDRICH FROEBEL. Translated by Josephine Jarvis. International Education Series. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

Dr. Harris, the editor, says of this book: "The essays on the training school for kindergartners and the method of introducing children's gardens into the kindergarten are very suggestive and useful. In fact, there is no other kindergarten literature that is quite equal in value to the contents of this present volume."

SPAIN.

By FREDERICK A. OBER, author of "Puerto Rico and its Resources," "Crusoe's Island," etc. History for Young Readers Series. 16mo, cloth, 60 cents.

The leading events of Spain's history, with special reference to her American colonies, the rise and fall of the empire, the causes and effects of the loss of her colonial power from the earliest period to the close of the late war, are presented in a way to interest the young reader, and give him a clear view of the romantic career and inglorious decline of the Spanish empire.

A TIMELY NOVEL.

THE MORMON PROPHET.

By LILY DOUGALL, author of "The Mermaid," "The Madonna of a Day," and "The Zeit-Geist." 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

"A striking story. . . . Immensely interesting and diverting, and as a romance it certainly has a unique power."—Boston Herald.

"Miss Dougall may be congratulated both on her choice of a subject for her new book and on her remarkably able and interesting treatment of it. . . . A fascinating story, which is even more remarkable and more fascinating as a psychological study."—Scotsman.

"'The Mormon Prophet' is no less interesting than curious; and while it may become a topic for discussion by upholders of various religious beliefs, yet its chief merit will be appreciated by those who enjoy meeting new characters and new scenes in fiction."—New York Literature.

RECENT VOLUMES IN

Appletons' Town and Country Library.

Each, 12mo, cloth, $1.00; paper, 50 cents.

No. 262. Paul Carah, Cornishman.

By CHARLES LEE, author of "A Widow Woman," "A Foreigner in Pendennack," etc.

This charming story of a Cornish village, with its fresh and pungent atmosphere and poetic glimpses of Nature, will impress itself upon readers as the work of an author whose insight, force, and literary quality are distinctly exceptional. The story is told with singular vividness and concentrated interest.

No. 261. Pharos, the Egyptian.

By GUY BOOTHBY, author of "Doctor Nikola," "The Lust of Hate," "A Bid for Fortune," etc.

Mr. Boothby has proved himself a master of the art of story-telling from the point of view of the reader who asks for a succession of stirring events, a suspicion of mystery, and an interest not only maintained but culminating. It would be unfair to explain the extraordinary character of "Pharos," or to do more than allude to the series of strange adventures wherein he plays a leading part. It is enough to assure Mr. Boothby's readers of delightful thrills and an interest which this vivid romancer never permits to flag.

THESE BOOKS ARE FOR SALE BY ALL BOOKSELLERS.

JUST READY:

The United States of Europe

By W. T. Stead

ON THE EVE OF THE PARLIAMENT OF PEACE

Mr. Stead's recent talks with the Czar and with all the great European statesmen lend much value to this timely review of current politics, written with special reference to the Russian Peace Rescript and American "Expansion." It covers such pertinent matters as America's task in Cuba and the Philippines, the "Chinese Puzzle," South African Problems, the Fashoda Muddle, the Concert of Europe and its work in Crete and Candia, and so on, with many suggestive forecasts.

Size, 5¼ x 8¾; Pages, 468; Illustrations, over 100 portraits, views, and maps; Binding, cloth. $2.00.

Memoirs of Sergeant Bourgogne, 1812-1813

COMPILED FROM THE ORIGINAL MSS. BY PAUL COTTIN

This book gives the personal adventures (compiled from his diary) of a sergeant in a regiment of the Emperor Napoleon's Old Guard. He went through the gloomy Russian campaign and endured to the full the terrific hardships of those famous soldiers who "grumbled but followed always." It gives a new light, a new point of view upon a chapter of history which will always hold its place in the picturesque annals of the world.

Size, 5½ x 8¾; Pages, 370; Binding, cloth, decorated; Type, 10-point; Illustrations, 8, nearly all from drawings made by an officer of Napoleon's Army. $1.50.

The Professor's Daughter

By Anna Farquhar

Miss Farquhar's story tells of Professor Fremont, the old man of books, and of his daughter and amanuensis, who give up their musty researches and betake themselves to a primitive Rhode Island seacoast village, in order to restore vigor to the young lady's failing eyes. The transformation of the latter from "a woman of bones, covered with spirit instead of flesh," into the heroine of a charming love-story proved one of the most popular "features" of the periodical in which it appeared.

Size, 5 x 7½; Pages, 324; Type, 11-point; Binding, cloth, decorated. $1.25.

"FROM SEA TO SEA"

A New Book in Press by

RUDYARD KIPLING

THIS is an authorized edition of the collected letters of travel which Mr. Rudyard Kipling has written at various times between 1890 and 1898. It includes hitherto unpublished matter as well as an accurate text of the "American Notes" with "Letters of Marque," "The City of Dreadful Night," etc., etc.

"THE DAY'S WORK"

72d Thousand

By RUDYARD KIPLING

THAS been his portion to gain the ear of the great non-literary reading public, and at the same time to win the enthusiastic applause of that limited body of men whose pleasure in a work of art is derived from a perception of the means as well as of the end. Such good fortune falls to few. . . . You may lay your finger on faults real or imaginary. . . . But you cannot (being in full possession of your senses) pass him by, you cannot maintain that, in estimating the literary forces and tendencies of our age, it is possible to leave him out of account. As well ignore Dickens in a review of Victorian literature, as well ignore Keene in a review of Victorian art. Perhaps the most striking feature of Mr. Kipling's work is the wide range over which it expatiates. Subjects the most diverse are handled with the same air of ease and intimacy; and no other writer is so well entitled to repeat with proper pride the most familiar and most hackneyed of Terentian sentiments. 'For to admire and for to see. For to behold this world so wide'—that is his metier."—Blackwood's Magazine.

NOTES IN SEASON.

THE AMERICAN NEWS COMPANY has purchased the entire limited paper-bound edition of Marie Corelli's "The Sorrows of Satan." The volume will be No. 3 of The People's Library, issued monthly and entered as second-class matter. It will be ready for delivery May 1.

DOUBLEDAY & MCCLURE CO. have just ready the "Memoirs of Sergeant Bourgogne, 1812-1813," an account, from the standpoint of a private soldier, of the horrors of war, as witnessed in the Russian campaign; also, a volume entitled "The United States of Europe on the Eve of the Parliament of Peace," by W. T.
Stead; and Anna Farquhar's strong story,
"The Professor's Daughter."

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY will publish at once a novel entitled "The Maternity of Har-riott Wicken," by Mrs. Henry Dudeney. The book is described to be "a realistic and remorseless study of unhappiness," and a "novel to be reckoned with." They have just ready in the Temple Classics (published in England by J. M. Dent & Co.,) "The Life and Opinions of Tristram Shandy," in two charming little volumes.

RAND, McNALLY & Co. have just issued the fourth edition of "The Merchant Prince of Cornville," a comedy by Samuel Eberly Gross, who, it will be remembered, has recently brought suit to prove that Rostand's "Cyranode Bergerac" is a plagiarism of this work.
"The Merchant Prince of Cornville" was written between the years 1875 and 1879. It was circulated and read in manuscript until 1895. In 1896 it was first published in book form, and in the same year it was given a single representation at the Novelty Theatre in London, with the object of securing the acting rights.

HERBERT S. STONE & Co., Chicago and New York, have just ready the following fiction:
"Dross," by Henry Seton Merriman, with twenty-eight full-page illustrations; "The Wolf's Long Howl," by Stanley Waterloo, author of "The Story of Ab," etc.; "Oliver Iverson, his adventures during four days and nights in the city of New York in April of the year 1890," by Ann Devoore; "A Little Legacy, and other stories," by Mrs. L. B. Walford;
"D'Arcy of the Guards, or, the fortunes of war," by Louis Evan Shipman; "The Awakening," by Kate Chopin; and "A Fair Brigand," by George Horton, late U. S. Consul at Athens, with many illustrations.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS issue to-day, in their International Theological Library, "The Theology of the New Testament," by George B. Stevens, professor of systematic theology in Yale University; and have also just ready "Retrospects and Prospects," a volume of descriptive and historical essays made up from the hitherto uncollected papers of the late Sidney Lanier; "In the Klondyke," by Frederick Palmer, with many illustrations from photographs; and a volume of stories collected under the title "On the Edge of the Empire," written by Edgar Jepson and Captain D. Beames, the "empire" being the British empire and the "edge" its Indian frontier.

D. APPLETON & Co. will publish early next month "The Races of Europe," a sociological study, by Professor William Z. Ripley, which was originally intended for fall publication.
An interesting feature of the book will be a supplementary bibliography of nearly 2000 titles, compiled by Herbert Putnam, the new Librarian of Congress, which will also be issued separately by the Boston Public Library. Professor Ripley's book gives a description of the present living population of Europe from the point of view of the physical anthropologist, and shows the intimate relationship which has generally arisen between man and his geographical environment. Simple maps, specially drawn for the purpose, and a rich collection of over 235 portrait types from all parts of the Continent increase the interest of the text for the general reader, for the work is not intended for scientists alone. The book is especially suggestive to the observant traveller who ventures beyond the great cities, and who would understand the life history of the European peasantry from the study of their physical traits, such as stature, color of hair and eyes, head form and features.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); Q. (4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 25 cm.). D. (8mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); Tt. (32mo: 12½ cm.); Fe. 48mo: 10 cm.). Sq., obl., mar., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights.

Abrojal, Tulis. An index finger. N. Y., R. F. Fenno & Co., 1898. c. '97. 2-382 p. D. buckram, $1.25. [1164]

The book is to be an index finger that will point out "truth, eternal in the heavens," that there is no death, but only a change to a life as busy as this on earth. The author's belief is not exactly spiritualism, or theosophy, or evolution. The happiness of human beings is to depend upon goodness. Women have great responsibilities, and men are required to make life on earth as easy as possible for them. The little mysterious plaything known as "Planchette" some years back plays a part in the plot.

California. Notes on the California reports, showing the present value as authority of the decisions of the supreme court of Cal., as determined through the citations in subsequent decisions of this court, the courts of last resort of sister states, and of the federal courts; by C. T. Boone, S. W. Charles, W. Foster, Albert Raymond, C. H. Squire, and C. Harding Tebbs. Book 3, embracing v. 36-60 Cal. reports. San Francisco, Bancroft-Whitney Co., 1899. c. 1033 p. O. shp., $7.50. [1174]

Carlyle, T. Letters of Thomas Carlyle to his youngest sister; ed., with an introductory essay, by C. Townsend Copeland. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1899. c. 8+270 p. pors. il. D. cl., $2. [1175]

The letters printed in this volume were mainly written by Thomas Carlyle to his youngest sister, Mrs. Robert Hanning, who died in Toronto on the thirteenth day of December, 1897. Other members of the family are represented in the correspondence; there are a few letters—these perhaps the most interesting—from Carlyle to his mother; a few, also, from the mother to her oldest and to her youngest child. The collection extends from 1832 to 1890 when J. Carlyle Aitken wrote to inform his aunt Mrs. Hanning, of the death of James Carlyle, her youngest brother. Mr. Copeland's introductory essay is on "Carlyle as a letter-writer."

Cole, R. S. A treatise on photographic optics. N. Y., D. Van Nostrand Co., 1899. 3+330 p. il. D. cl., $2.50. [1176]

The object of this treatise is to provide an account of the principles of optics, so far as they apply to photography, in a form which is of scientific value, while not of too abstruse a nature to place it beyond the reach of all but the professional mathematician or physicist. "I have attempted," the author says, "to steer a middle course between giving too much mathematics and giving none at all; the former course would restrict the book to a few, while the latter would deprive it of all real value." To make the mathematics as intelligible as possible, most of the results have been illustrated by worked numerical examples, and symbolical results have been expressed in words.

Copeland, T. Campbell, Soltera, Maria, and Magnus, Maurice. American colonial handbook: a ready reference book of facts and figures, historical, geographical, and commercial, about Cuba, Puerto Rico, the Philippines, Hawaii, and Guam. N. Y., Funk & Wagnalls Co., 1899. c. 180 p. nar. S. flex. cl., 50 c. [1177]

Besides facts and figures regarding the history, geography, population, agriculture, vegetable and mineral products, animals, financial condition, commerce, shipping, inland transportation, exports, imports, etc., relative to the islands named in the title, there are numerous special features, including lists with Spanish equivalents for Cuba, Puerto Rico, the Philippines and Marianas, of the principal vegetables, minerals, and animals of each country. These latter embrace the whole animal kingdom. Transportation notes tell how much it costs to visit the different possessions, and how to connect by rail and steamer. Weights and measures, currency, time variations, and a score of other items are also given in their proper places. The question and answer form adopted as a part of the plan gives the book special attractiveness.

Dow, Arthur Wesley. Composition: a series of exercises selected from a new system of art education. Pt. 1. Bost., J. M. Bowles, 1899. c. 88 p. il. sq. O. cl., $1.50. [1178]

A paragraph from Mr. Dow's introductory throws light upon this work. He says: "The main idea in the system is to help the pupil at the very outset to originate a beautiful arrangement—say a few lines harmoniously grouped together—and then proceed onward step by step to greater appreciation and fuller power of expression. During this course skill in drawing will come as a natural growth, and knowledge of perspective and all other requisites will be sought as the developing artistic faculty feels the need of them. In a word, instead of spending most of the effort on drawing, and then adding additional work or composition, we begin with composition, and find that it will lead to all the rest." Mr. Dow is instructor in composition at Pratt Institute, Brooklyn, and at Art Students' League of New York.

Ecce clerus; or, the Christian minister in many lights, by a student of the times. N. Y., Eaton & Mains, 1899. c. 2-341 p. O. cl., $1.50. [1179]

"This treatise is an attempt to deal with some pressing present-day problems having their incidents within the sphere of religion and holding peculiarly intimate relation to the ministerial calling. Fidelity to its aim in this regard makes it a more or less free and candid criticism of the spirit, status, functions, methods, and achievements of the Christian ministry, viewed in the light of the New Testament and the special requirements of the age."—Preface.

Fleming, Lucy Randolph. Alice Withrow; or, the summer at home. Richmond, Va., Presb. Committee of Publication, [1899.] c. 241 p. il. D. cl., $1. [1183]

The enforced residence in the city of a family of young people always used to a summer outing is the subject of the story. Out of the disappointment much good springs for every one.

Gross, S. Eberly. The merchant prince of Cornville: a comedy; represented in London, England, at the Novelty Theatre, on November 11, 1896. 4th ed. N. Y. and Chic., Rand, McNally & Co., [1899.] c. '96. 3-168 p. por. D. cl., 75 c. [1184]

This is the play from which its author claims Ros-tand plagiarized several of the situations in his "Cyrano de Bergerac."

Grosvenor, Edwin A. Contemporary history of the world. N. Y., T. Y. Crowell & Co., [1899.] c. '98, '99. 9+173 p. maps, D. cl., $1. [1185]

*Hurst, J. T. Handbook of formulas, tables, and memoranda for architectural surveyors, and others engaged in building. 15th ed. N. Y., Spon & Chamberlain, 1899. 512 p. 32°, leath., $2. [1190]

Hyde, Douglas. A literary history of Ireland, from earliest times to the present day. N. Y., C. Scribner's Sons, 1899. 18+654 p. il. O. (Lib. of literary hist., no. 2.) cl., $4. [1191]

"The present volume has been styled—in order to make it a companion book to the 'Literary history of India'—a 'Literary history of Ireland,' but a 'Literary history of Irish Ireland' would be a more correct title, for I have abstained altogether from any analysis or even mention of the works of Anglicized Irishmen of the last two centuries. Their books, as those of Farquhar, of Swift, of Goldsmith, of Burke, find, and have always found, their true and natural place in every history of English literature that has been written, whether by Englishmen themselves or by foreigners. My object in this volume has been to give a general view of the literature produced by the Irish-speaking Irish, and to reproduce, by copious examples, some of its more salient, or at least more characteristic, features."—Preface.

Lust, Adelina Cohnfeldt. A tent of grace. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1899. c. 2+398 p. D. cl., $1.50. [1197]

The scene is laid in Germany, and the time is about the middle of this century. The motif of the story is the deep gulf of racial distinctions, the impassable gulf between the Christian and the Jew. The heroine is a beautiful Jewess, rescued when a child from a mob of children, and attaining a noble womanhood under the fostering care of the pastor of the German village and his wife. She is loved by Christian and Jew, and the struggle in her mind between the commanding force of her religious tradition and the intense force of her affection is described with understanding and power.

McDonald, W. The people's Wesley; with an introd. by Bp. W. F. Mallalieu. N. Y., Eaton & Mains, 1899. c. 2+62 p. S. pap., 15 c. [1198]

A brief life of John Wesley, including all the essential facts in his career.

Marot, Helen, comp. A handbook of labor literature: being a classified and annotated list of the more important books and pamphlets in the English language. Phil., Free Library of Economics and Political Science, [1899.] c. 6+96 p. D. flex. cl., $1. [1199]

Offers the more important literature of the labor question, under specific headings, with author, publisher, price, etc. Particular attention has been given to government publications and pamphlet literature. In the annotations valuation of the books has been generally avoided, the notes simply explaining more fully than the titles the contents of the books. The periodical literature, which is very important, has been omitted, as it is already covered by Poole's index, beginning with 1802 and brought down to the present by the "Annual literary index," the "Cumulative index," etc. List of labor periodicals. Index to authors. Compiler is librarian of Free Library of Economics and Political Science.

Prescott, E. Livingston. The measure of a man. N. Y., R. F. Fenno & Co., 1899. c. '98. 302 p. D. cl., $1.25. [1220]

A plain sergeant of dragoons is thrown from his horse and rendered insensible for a time; he is found by a girl far above him in education and station, and restored to consciousness. This is the beginning of a love-story, in which the man educates himself, helped by the girl he loves, and rises to her level.

*Richardson, C. J. The Englishman's house: a practical guide for selecting or building a house. New cheaper ed., with a colored frontispiece. N. Y., imported by C: Scribner's Sons, 1899. 504 p. il. 12°, cl., $1.25. [1221]

- *Ridpath, J. Clark. Ridpath's history of the world: being an account of the principal events in the career of the human race from the beginnings of civilization to the present time; comprising the development of social institutions and the story of all nations; from recent and authentic sources. N. Y., Merrill & Baker, 1898-9. 8 v., il. maps, 8°, cl., subs., $32; hf. mor., $40; full mor., $48. [1222]
- Rodman, Warren A. Fate or law? The story of an optimist. Bost., Lee & Shepard, 1899. c. 5-218 p. D. cl., $1. [1223]
The author is secretary of the International Metaphysical League. The story deals with the theory of mental healing. The hero is sickly and deformed through prenatal mental influence, but is blessed with a hopeful disposition. He comes under the care of a mental healer who cures him and enables him to marry a beautiful girl, of a sunny, optimistic disposition.
- *Roger, J. Energy and heat. N. Y., Spon & Chamberlain, 1899. 36 p. 12°, cl., 50 c. [1224]
- Sargent, F. Leroy. Corn plants: their uses and ways of life. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1899. c. 7+106 p. il. D. cl., 75 c. [1225]
Gives in compact form and in readable style a clear account of the six important grain plants of the world—wheat, oats, rye, barley, rice, and maize. Explains what corn plants are, indicates their importance to mankind, and narrates the myths and religious customs which have grown up about them. Also describes how the plants are formed, and how their growth and perfection are insured by their various organs. The author shows how well they are adapted for ideal food products for mankind, and gives the history, distribution, and uses of each of the six plants.
- *Scottish clans (The) and their tartans; containing 96 col. pls. showing the various tartans of the different clans; with full descriptive notes on the history and achievements of each clan. New ed. rev. N. Y., imported by C: Scribner's Sons, 1899. 32°, cl., $1. [1226]
- *Smith, Hermann. The art of tuning the piano-forte: a new and comprehensive treatise to enable the musician to tune his piano-forte upon the system found on the theory of equal temperament. N. Y., imported by C: Scribner's Sons, 1899. 90 p. 12°, pap., net, 75 c. [1227]
- *Snow, Walter B. Steam-boiler practice in its relation to fuels and their combustion, and the economic results obtained with various methods and devices. N. Y., J: Wiley & Sons, 1899. 10+297 p. 8°, cl., $3. [1228]
- *Spon's architects and builders' price-book (English prices), with useful memoranda. 26th ed. N. Y., Spon & Chamberlain, 1899. 424 p. 8°, cl., $1.40. [1229]
- Stevens, H. D. A boy's life, its spiritual ministry. Bost., Ja. H. West Co., [1899.] 10+118 p. sq. S. (Life's ser.) cl., 50 c.; Special ed., 75 c. [1230]
The story of a real boy—Arthur C. Stevens, born in Indianapolis, June 25, 1881, died June 22, 1897. His father tells the story of his sixteen years, with a pathetic insight, which makes it very attractive to one who has lost a child.
- Stone, Rev. R. H. In Afric's forest and jungle: or, six years among the Yorubans. N. Y. and Chic., Fleming H. Revell Co., [1899.] c. 3-282 p. il. D. cl., $1. [1231]
A series of sketches by a missionary who resided for several years in a large native town in West Africa, where he came in contact with some phases of life which are now largely things of the past.
- Stratemeyer, E. Fighting in Cuban waters; or, under Schley on the Brooklyn; il. by A. B. Shute. Bost., Lee & Shepard, 1898. c. 8+344 p. il. D. (Old Glory ser., no. 3.) cl., $1.25. [1232]
Walter Russell, brother to Larry and Ben, the respective heroes of the two preceding volumes of this series, finds his way to Boston in this volume, secures employment, enlists in the navy, and is assigned to the Brooklyn. Then follow interesting chapters, telling of Commodore Schley, the idol of his men; the routine of the life of the "Jackies," and blockade and discovery of Cervera's fleet, followed by the memorable conflict of July 3. Walter has meanwhile met with all the adventures that the author knows so well how to introduce, including an unexpected trip on the Merrimac under Hobson.
- *Swift, Jonathan. The choice works of Dean Swift in prose and verse; reprinted from the original eds. New cheaper ed., with memoir. N. Y., imported by C: Scribner's Sons, 1899. 678 p. 12°, cl., $1.25. [1233]

- Thayer, W. Roscoe. Throne-makers. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1899. c. 6+329 p. D. cl., $1.50. [1237]
The "Throne-makers" are Bismarck, Napoleon III., Kossuth, and Garibaldi. Their personalities are portrayed and their achievements briefly described. Four papers or "portraits" follow, whose subjects are Carlyle, Tintoret, Giordano Bruno, and Bryant. Mr. Thayer is the author of "The dawn of Italian independence."
- Thomas, Reuben. The kinship of souls: a narrative. Bost., Little, Brown & Co., 1899. c. 4+295 p. D. cl., $1.50. [1238]
An account of a trip across the ocean, made by a philosophical professor, his intellectual daughter, and a young theological student, including descriptions of various portions of England and Germany visited by the persons of the narrative. The author shows wide reading and familiarity not only with theology, but with novelists, philosophers, and poets as well. Kant, Hume, Hegel, George Eliot, Wordsworth, Arnold, Carlyle, Milton, Dr. Johnson, and many other thinkers and writers are touched upon. His undogmatic discussions of theology and philosophy will appeal to the serious-minded.
- *Thornhill, Mark. Haunts and hobbies of an Indian official. N. Y., imported by C: Scribner's Sons, 1899. 346 p. 12°, cl., $2.40. [1239]

Contents: V. 1-6, War and peace, a novel.

*United States. The jurisdiction of federal courts, by Howard M. Carter. Bost., Little, Brown & Co., 1899. 28+303 p. 8°, shp., net, $3.50. [1244]

Vincent, Clarence A., D.D. Providence in America; or, the problems of self-government. Sandusky, O., The Alvord-Peters Co., [1899.] c. 239+7 p. D. pap., 30 c. [1245]

The author has been impressed in all his study of American history "that the hand of God can be as plainly seen in it as in the records of the children of Israel, and that upon this nation God has laid a peculiar responsibility." His theory is illustrated in chapters entitled: The Scriptures and national life; Providence in America's discovery, in its physical features, its settlement, development, critical periods, leaders, present perils, etc.

Whishaw, F: At the court of Catherine the Great. N. Y., F: A. Stokes Co., [1899.] c. 363 p. D. cl., $1.25. [1246]

The story is told by a German Countess who goes to Russia, when only sixteen, to serve the Grand Duchess, who afterwards becomes the Empress Catherine the Great, as lady-in-waiting. The girl has an interesting personal experience, which is interwoven with Catherine's own exciting career. The story as it relates to Catherine is historically true. Her various favorites play their parts; her husband, the imbecile Peter, is murdered, and she is left securely on her throne, still a young woman, when the volume is closed.

*Whitaker, [Jos. & Sons, comps.] Whitaker's naval and military directory and Indian army list, 1899; containing an alphabetical list of commissioned officers on the active list of both services: a list of the ships of the navy, and of the regiments of the army, a catalogue of war medals and decorations, etc. N. Y., imported by C: Scribner's Sons, 1899. 656 p. 12°, cl., $2. [1247]

Whiting, Lillian. From Dreamland sent. New ed., with additional poems. Bost., Little, Brown & Co., 1899. c. '95, '99. 4-167 p. D. cl., $1; cl. extra, $1.25. [1248]

Whiteing, R: No. 5 John St. N. Y., The Century Co., 1899. c. 3+315 p. D. cl., $1.50. [1249]

The experience of a wealthy young baronet who lives for a time in the London slums and earns his bread by the sweat of his brow. He returns again to his own social set, and after a while goes back to the slums. There are only a few characters in the book, the chief being a flower-girl of imposing stature. The book is more a succession of impressions than a story. While it pathetically pictures the misery of the poor, it is also a satire upon "the selfishness of high civilization." By the author of "The Island."

Williams, Jesse Lynch. The stolen story, and other newspaper stories. N. Y., C: Scribner's Sons, 1899. c. 5+291 p. il. D. cl., $1.25. [1250]

Contents: The stolen story; The new reporter; Mrs. H. Harrison Wells's shoes; The great secretary-of-state interview; The city editor's conscience; The cub reporter and the King of Spain; The old reporter. Mr. Williams also wrote "Princeton stories."

*Wood, Ja. Wood's Iowa justice's form book and constable's guide. 4th ed. rev. by A. G. Bush. Davenport, Ia., Egbert, Fidler & Chambers, 1898. c. 200 p. D. shp., $1.50. [1251]

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

APRIL 15, 1899.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, must reach this office by Tuesday morning of each week.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of "The American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of all trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

COPYRIGHT AMENDMENT.

THE question of amendment of the copyright law has been raised in an interesting way in the letter from the Poet-Laureate of England to the American Secretary of State, addressed to the latter in his double capacity of author and statesman. Most, if not all, authors, and many publishers, would be quite willing to open the copyright doors as freely to Englishmen as to themselves, and to make such modifications in the law as would enable the United States to become a participant in the Berne Convention. Other publishers and many, if not most, printers, with those of the allied trades, would probably be opposed to anything more than modification of the present manufacturing clause. The country in the present administration is committed to the protection of American industry, and the manufacturing clause is in harmony with that policy. It is scarcely to be expected that this particular feature of the general policy will be swept away because of the present friendliness between England and America, or because of the willingness of authors to meet their English brethren and rivals face to face on equal terms. In other words, the question is still not an author's question, or even a publisher's question, but a printer's question in relation with the protection by tariff and cognate laws of printing interests.

The copyright law as amended in 1891, to make it to some extent an international copyright law, still includes many perplexities and not a few inconsistencies. So intelligent and fair-minded a copyright officer as Mr. Solberg is doubtless puzzled frequently, if not daily, by the difficulties inherent in the present law. From time to time suggestions have been made for a copyright commission of experts, somewhat on the lines of the English commission, which should investigate the general subject of copyright legislation and propose a new copyright code—a suggestion again brought forward by Mr. George Haven Putnam's comment on Mr. Austin's letter. Quite aside from the manufacturing clause and international questions, such a commission would be most desirable, and doubtless it could frame a code which would greatly improve the domestic law and present such a form of international arrangement as would adapt itself either to the protection of the printing industry, or to freer relations between English and American authorship, according to whatever policy might prevail at the time the report should be made. It is to be hoped, therefore, that with the next meeting of the Congress some progress may be made in the direction of a commission for copyright revision.

Doubtless many questions will be asked at the approaching international meeting of publishers in London from the American representatives as to the status of copyright here—probably more questions than can easily be answered. It is significant to note, in this connection, that the American Publishers Copyright League, at its recent annual meeting, put itself on record as favoring an extension of copyright privilege so as to do better justice to foreign authors—authors of books in other languages than English—as to the time limit of reissue here. Doubtless there are many ways in which the copyright law could be broadened without encountering prejudices in this country, while making our friends across sea happier in their minds. But it would be better if these and all like questions could be referred to a copyright commission which should make recommendations, perhaps not doing everything that even members of the commission would like to do, but recognizing both the possibilities and the limitations of an improvement of the present law.

THE FINE WRITING PAPER COMBINE.

THE projectors of the new fine writing paper combine have agreed upon a capitalization of $42,000,000, and the organization of this company will be perfected this month and be in running order by June 1. The work of securing options on plants has been completed, and the projectors are now busy making an appraisal of the value of the plants and stock. Fully 92 per cent. of the fine writing paper mills in the country are in the combine, or a total of some forty-five mills, twenty of which are in Holyoke, Mass., and nine in the West.

BOOKSELLING IN OLDEN AND MODERN TIMES.

THE April dinner of the Booksellers' League, in its new quarters at the New Amsterdam Hotel, southeast corner of Fourth Avenue and Twenty-first Street, was an entire success from every point of view. The rooms occupied by the League were homelike—almost gorgeous compared with those in which its dinners have hitherto been given—the dinner was excellent and well served, and the literary programme was highly interesting.

At a meeting of the Board of Managers, held earlier in the evening, ten new members were elected. The dinner committee reported a deficit of a little over $25, which is fifteen dollars less than last year, and the treasurer reported a balance of over $250. It may, therefore, be taken for granted that the League is more than holding its own, and that its ideal—to come into possession of a home of its own—is not so visionary now as it was even a year ago. Appropriate resolutions of regret at the death of Mr. W. W. Howe were drafted and passed. An engrossed copy of these resolutions will be transmitted to Mr. Howe's sister, his sole surviving relative.

After the coffee had been served, the President, W. H. Parker, briefly introduced H. S. Hutchinson, of New Bedford, Mass., who spoke in part as follows:

I notice that our Chairman has assigned a topic to me that is a departure from the subject of the evening—"An Evening with Salesmen and their Big Sales"—and has asked me to tell you something about country booksellers; but it is quite a temptation to me to take advantage of those who are to follow me, and tell about some big sales. I might repeat the story that John Laverty, then with Cassell & Co., told Mr. Adams, of D. Lothrop & Co., how he sold me more than 3000 board books one morning. That was when children's books were all the "go;" but I did not care, because I was only charged on the bill for about 1200. Then there was the story, not so old, that "Pop" Walton told Jack Hopkins, of Thos. Y. Crowell & Co., of how he came into my store one rainy evening with a catalogue, and sold me "steen"-hundred dollars' worth in an hour and a half. Then Harry Schram, of Chicago, told an admiring crowd of travelling men at the American House, Boston, how he ran down to New Bedford and sold me a bill of $750 of picture mouldings. I also go back to the good old days of the Trade Sale down on Broadway, where old "Jo." Foster—we all remember him and his grapes—swung the gavel. Well, he started in one day to stop us small people from crying our "Balance," and, as a result, I was the Horrible example, and got about 700 of Lee & Shepard's Illustrated Hymns. Fortunately we got rid of them all. But I must not encroach further upon this subject.

The business now carried on by me was established by my father, in 1864, for the sale of school-books and school supplies. There was money in school-books then. In those days we also made our own ink—in the back of the store—and sold it at a dollar a gallon. There was one drawback. In those days clergymen had their extra discount, and every school ma'am had her extra ten per cent.; between them and those who had no discounts at all the bookseller was kept guessing. Now we give a twenty per cent. discount on most books to all; and twenty-five per cent. on many.

One of my early recollections of bookselling carries me back to the time when "Helen's Babies," "That Husband of Mine," and "That Wife of Mine," were published. On the day the latter was published the sidewalk in front of A. K. Loring's store in Boston was blocked with people eager to pay fifty cents for a book which to-day we might have difficulty in selling for ten cents.

In 1883, when I assumed charge of the business, one-third of our annual sales was school-books. In 1884, when Massachusetts passed the first Free Text-Book Law, we tried our hand at supplying the cities and towns, and had more funny experiences with school committees than profit in doing business. Owing to the loss of so large a part of my retail business, I began to look around and commenced to add other lines. At that time we sold only books, stationery, and a very few periodicals. We have carried on a circulating library since the sixties, and still continue it, with a circulation of about 25,000 a year, at one cent a day. We now add about 400 periodicals a month, and take subscriptions for them when they have circulated a month. By doing this, and by keeping up with the latest fiction, we have held on to the business, notwithstanding paper novels and ten-cent magazines.

About 1892-3 competition was pretty strong, and we were beginning to feel the effects of Boston Sunday newspaper advertising and cheap book catalogues distributed through the mails, so we looked around again, and this time found a man in the music and picture-framing business, with a store and a lease. This we purchased, and added it to our business, although he advised us, after the sale, to get out of the music part of it; but we hung on, and are "still in it." About this time we also added a news-stand and a department of artists' materials.

As I visited other cities, I looked about, and decided that the Department Store idea was a good one. Many lines of goods give business all the time. My clerks ten years ago didn't have anything to do during January, February, March, July, and August when we had only the book business. Now something is going every month, and I feel that the bookseller's salvation lies in selling something at a profit, so that he can afford to continue in the finest profession in existence—the art of selling books.

In speaking most interestingly of his visit to Cuba, Mr. Hutchinson said that strangely enough he had run across many bookstores in Havana, but they were all small and dark, and stocked principally with second-hand French and Spanish books. D. Appleton & Co. seem to be represented by a branch store that displays their firm-name conspicuously. It is by far the most progressive bookstore in Havana, and is presided over by a Cuban who speaks English fairly well. In one small, dingy old bookshop near his hotel—The Pasaje—Mr. Hutchinson found this sign:

NO BOOKS READ HERE.
THIS SHOP TOO SMALL.

The stationery stores in Havana, as a rule, are larger than the bookstores, but the goods seem to be obsolete so far as style is concerned, and very much shopworn. Writing paper is uniformly as large as our foolscap, and the quality little better than our ordinary book paper. The wrapping paper is dark and coarse, and nearly all of it comes from Spain. Mr. Hutchinson found that most of the employees, especially those in wholesale houses, live on the premises, and take their meals in the rear of the store. Breakfast is served at about half-past ten, and lasts for about an hour. During that time all hands and the employers sit down together, and business is suspended.

In closing, Mr. Hutchinson gave it as his opinion that the business outlook is most satisfactory; and that, as soon as a government is established that will command the respect and confidence of business men generally, a large and profitable commerce in many lines will be opened up with the United States.

Mr. Hutchinson's remarks were heartily applauded, and the conclusion of his cheerful reminiscences left everybody in good humor and quite ready to enjoy all that was to follow.

As the salesmen who were expected to tell "big stories" of their sales were conspicuous by their absence, this part of the programme was filled up by a number of volunteers who told stories of sales that others had made; and so the evening was pleasantly passed until the hour hand of the clock had fairly reached eleven.

GEORGE HAVEN PUTNAM ON COPYRIGHT AMENDMENT.

THE letter which Alfred Austin, Poet-Laureate of England, wrote to John Hay, the gist of which was given in our last week's issue, has excited considerable attention among publishers, printers, and literary men in this country. Among those approached by a representative of the New York Tribune, for an opinion on the letter, was George Haven Putnam, who represents the printing as well as publishing interests, and whose opinions on questions of copyright always command deserved attention. Mr. Putnam, according to the Tribune of the 9th inst., is reported to have said: "The repeal of that clause would practically mean that this country would join the Berne Convention. This convention consisted of representatives from all the principal European countries, and it established a uniform copyright law for Europe. Our own country, through the copyright law passed by Congress in 1891, has held aloof, and this divergence is due almost entirely to that manufacturing clause. In other respects our law is practically the same as that laid down by the Berne Convention. I do not think a satisfactory copyright law can be established by ordinary legislation. Our present law was so hacked to pieces and juggled by the various amendments made to it before it was finally passed that it is nothing but a jumble. The only way to do is to have an international commission of copyright experts appointed which shall spend a year or two in carefully investigating and considering, and then shall have power to make a uniform, well-constructed law for all nations."

J. N. WING LIBRARIAN OF N. Y. FREE CIRCULATING LIBRARY.

J. NORRIS WING, who for nearly nineteen years has been connected with the library department of Charles Scribner's Sons, was elected on the 11th inst. librarian of the New York Free Circulating Library, to succeed Arthur E. Bostwick, who resigned a short time ago.

Mr. Wing is a Virginian, having been born forty-seven years ago near Lynchburg, Va. His father, E. N. Wing, was engineer of the East Tennessee and Virginia Railroad, and built High Bridge, over the Appomattox River, at Farmville, Va. The son was educated in the public schools of New York, and entered the College of the City of New York; but before closing his first year he accepted a position in the Mercantile Library. He was connected with the library thirteen years, and became first assistant librarian. Conscientious in the smallest as well as in the larger matters relating to his duties, Mr. Wing worked almost unceasingly. The result was that he suffered in health and was obliged to retire for a time from active work.

In 1880 he took charge of the large and growing library business of Charles Scribner's Sons, for which position his library training admirably fitted him. During the years he has been engaged in business he has kept in close touch with library progress. He is a member of the American Library Association and of the New York Library Club, and has for the last six years been the treasurer of the New York State Library Association. Mr. Wing, while faithful to his first love, the library, was no less loyal and devoted to the profession which he adopted, of which he has always been an honored member. He was one of the earlier and active members of the Booksellers' and Stationers' Provident Association, which he served for many years as a trustee. He was also one of the organizers of the Booksellers' League, whose members twice elected him its president, and at the recent annual meeting chose him as its First Vice-president. Mr. Wing is the second bookseller to become librarian of the New York Free Circulating Library, his predecessor, Mr. Bostwick, having been connected for a number of years with the house of D. Appleton & Co.

RELICS OF THE BASKERVILLE PRESS.

A COLLECTION of books from the famous Birmingham press of John Baskerville is to be sold in London on the 20th inst. One treasure in the lot is the copy of Milton's "Poetical Works" printed in 1758 in the original folded sheets, uncut, with sixteen pages torn half-way up the centre to be cancelled, and the sixteen revised pages to supply them. There will also be sold an autograph letter of Baskerville, written to Horace Walpole in 1762, speaking bitterly of the want of public appreciation of his work. Baskerville writes:

I have taken the liberty of sending you a specimen of mine begun ten years ago at the age of forty, and prosecuted ever since with the utmost care and attention, and the strongest presumption that if I could fairly excel in this divine art it would make my affairs easy, or at least give me bread. But alas! in both I was mistaken. . . . My folio Bible is pretty far advanced at Cambridge, which will cost me near £2000. If this does not sell I shall be obliged to sacrifice a small patrimony, which brings me in £74 a year, to this business of printing: which I am heartily tired of, and repent I ever attempted.

MOSES W. DODD.

MOSES W. DODD, the founder of the publishing house of Dodd, Mead & Co., died at his residence, No. 23 West 12th Street, New York, on the 8th inst. He was born in Bloomfield, N. J., November 11, 1813. He studied at the local academy, and prepared himself for Princeton College, from which he was graduated in 1837. He then entered the Theological Seminary at Princeton, but ill-health, resulting from hard study, obliged him to abandon his ambition of becoming a clergyman.

In 1839 Mr. Dodd was admitted to partnership in the book business of John S. Taylor, who a short time before had started as a publisher of theological and religious books, but who withdrew from the firm in the following year. He brought to the publishing business the same energy and the same eager desire for honest success that had characterized his studies in the college and seminary. He had always been a great lover of the literature he was now to place before the public. He knew the tools with which he had to work, and he had faith in them. Circumstances have shown that he also knew his public and had faith in it as well. In neither case was his faith misplaced, and for thirty years the name of M. W. Dodd remained above his place of business, while the transactions carried on therein increased in importance and number.

In the earlier years of Mr. Dodd's business career he was established in the old Brick Church Chapel building, on the site now occupied by the New York Times building. This was then almost the very centre of the book trade, with Daniel Appleton & Co. at 200 Broadway, Baker & Scribner next door, at 145 Nassau Street and 36 Park Row, A. S. Barnes & Co., at 51 John Street, Robert Carter, at 58 Canal Street, C. S. Francis, at 252 Broadway, Harper Brothers, at 82 Cliff Street, Mark H. Newman & Co., across the Park at 199 Broadway, and Wiley & Putnam below, at 161 Broadway. In his store was kept a register of names and addresses of the many visitors to the city who attended the May anniversaries.

In 1856 Mr. Dodd removed to 506 Broadway, near Spring Street, which was then considered a more revolutionary move than that now proposed by his successors who are soon to locate at Thirty-fifth Street and Fifth Avenue.

In 1870 Mr. Dodd retired from business and was succeeded by his son, Frank H. Dodd, and Edward Spencer Mead, a nephew of Robert Hoe, the press-builder, whose sister, Rachel, had become Mr. Dodd's wife thirty years before. Later, when Bleeker Van Wagenen was admitted to partnership, the firm-name became Dodd, Mead & Co., which it has remained until the present. Mr. Mead died January 10, 1894. Robert H. Dodd, a younger son of Moses W. Dodd, is also a member of the firm. Early in the seventies the firm removed to 762 Broadway, then to 751 and 753 Broadway, and subsequently to Fifth Avenue and Twenty-first Street.

Mr. Dodd was an active and prominent member of the Presbyterian church, and for more than fifty years served as ruling elder in the University Place Presbyterian Church. He devoted much of his leisure to an interest in painting and music, more particularly in church music. His wife died two years ago, and he is survived by five sons: Frank H. and Robert H., of the present firm of publishers; the Rev. Ira S. Dodd, of Riverdale, N. Y.; Charles T. and William.

Mr. Dodd had been in comparatively good health up to about a week ago. His death was caused by a complication of diseases.

OBITUARY NOTES.

As we go to press the sad news of the sudden death, on the 13th inst., of George L. Kay reaches us. Mr. Kay was the manager of the Kay Printing House, the printers of the periodical publications of this office. For five or six years he had been in sole charge of the affairs of the printing office and had endeared himself to all through his many sterling qualities and his gentlemanly manner.

GEORGE KELLEY CUTLER died at his home in Ware, Mass., March 31, from the effects of a stroke of paralysis which he had suffered about a year ago. Mr. Cutler was born in Greenwich, Conn., in 1822, and went to Ware in 1847, where he has since lived. In 1849 he bought a bookstore on Main Street and did business there until 1890, when he sold out to Herbert H. Turner and retired from active work.

SIR MONIER MONIER-WILLIAMS, Boden Professor of Sanskrit at the University of Oxford, died on the 11th inst. Professor Monier-Williams was born at Bombay, November 12, 1819. Among his publications are the standard Sanskrit Grammar and the English-Sanskrit Dictionary, used at Oxford and Cambridge; "Introduction to Hindustani," "Application of Roman Alphabet to Indian Languages," "Sanskrit Manual," "Indian Epoch Poetry," "Religious Thought and Life in India," "Holy Bible and Sacred Books of the East," "Study of Sanskrit in Relation to Missionary Work," "Hinduism," "Modern India and Indians," "Nalopakhyaṇa," "Buddhism," "Brahmanism," "Indian Wisdom," and "Bagh O Bahar."

RICHARD R. DONNELLEY, of the firm of R. R. Donnelley & Sons, of Chicago, publishers and printers, died suddenly on the 8th inst., at his residence, 4609 Woodlawn Avenue, Chicago. He was born in Hamilton, Ontario, in 1836, and began his business career as publisher in the Dominion. Before the war he went to New Orleans, where he became foreman of The True Delta. In 1866 he removed to Chicago and became a member of the firm of Church, Goodman & Donnelley. This firm was succeeded by Donnelley, Gassette & Loyd, then by Donnelley, Loyd & Co., and finally by R. R. Donnelley & Sons. In 1877 Donnelley, Gassette & Co. began publishing The Boys' Winter Evening Library and The Fireside Library. Later their successors founded the Lakeside Library Publishing Company and began the publication of The Lakeside Library. In 1876 Donnelley began publishing "The Chicago Directory." "The Chicago Blue Book," a directory of Chicago society, is also published by the Chicago Directory Company, one of the Donnelley concerns. Mr. Donnelley married in 1863, and four children were born of the union, all of whom survive him.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. have nearly ready "True Tales of the Insects," by L. N. Badenoch, a large octavo volume with forty-four illustrations.

M. F. MANSFIELD & A. WESSELS will publish shortly "A Book of Giants," by William Strange, text and illustrations being by this artist, and uniform with "Aubrey Beardsley," by Arthur Symons.

THE JERSEY CITY WOMAN'S CLUB, Jersey City, N. J., have just published a neat volume entitled "Jersey City and its Historic Sites," by Harriet Phillips Eaton, who has brought together much valuable and interesting information relating to the subject.

THOMAS Y. CROWELL & Co. have just published a volume entitled "Contemporary History of the World," by Prof. Edwin A. Grosvenor, of Amherst College, who gives an outline of the most prominent political events in Europe and North America during the last fifty years.

SILVER, BURDETT & Co., Boston, will publish to-day the third book of "The Land of Song," compiled for school use by Katherine H. Shute and Dr. Larkin Dunton. They will publish early in May a volume entitled "Colonial Massachusetts, stories of the Old Bay State," by Mrs. S. E. Dawes.

D. C. HEATH & Co. will publish immediately "Stille Wasser," three representative stories by Wildenbruch, Hoffman, and Krane. These are provided with notes and vocabulary by Dr. Wilhelm Bernhardt, and are sure of a ready welcome in schools and colleges, where such charming bits of German literature are so desirable for elementary reading.

DODD, MEAD & Co. have decided to postpone publishing the popular edition of Paul Leicester Ford's study of "The New England Primer." The expensive illustrated edition was sold out shortly after publication. The forthcoming cheaper one will contain all the facsimiles and drawings that may be essential to a proper understanding of the subject.

L. C. PAGE & Co., Boston, who have taken over from George H. Richmond & Son D'Annunzio's works, promise shortly a new volume by the same author, entitled "Fire." They will also hereafter be the publishers of Magda Stuart Sindici's works. They announce as nearly ready "Yale, her Campus, Class-rooms, and Athletics," by Walter Camp and Lewis S. Welch, with many half-tone illustrations.

REV. STEPHEN D. PEET, editor of The American Antiquarian, will publish shortly a work entitled "The Beginnings of Architecture, the connecting links between prehistoric and historic structures," in the preparation of which Dr. Peet has spent over twenty years. The work will give the results of the latest discoveries and explorations in the East, and will also point out the growth of architecture in China, Africa, Polynesia, and America.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS announce definitely that "The Life of George Borrow, being the life, writings, and correspondence of George Borrow, 1803-1881," by Dr. William I. Knapp, will appear before the end of the month. It has been discovered in London that Mr. Borrow's letters to the Bible Society, the supposed loss of which is lamented by Dr. Knapp in the biography, are not lost at all, and it is said in London that they will be included in a new edition of the work.

FLEMING H. REVELL CO. have just ready "In Africa's Forest and Jungle, or, six years among the Yorubans," by Rev. R. H. Stone. In the western central part of Africa, between the Bight of Benin and the Niger River, about four million people speak a language known as Yoruban. It is the history of these people, who range from black through brown to copper-colored, and are brave and patriotic and capable of a very high degree of intellectual culture, that this book tells. The contest for African empire between England and France has recently brought these people before the notice of the whole civilized world.

SMALL, MAYNARD & Co., Boston, have just ready the following first five volumes of The Beacon Biographies, edited by A. DeWolfe Howe: "Phillips Brooks," by the editor; "David G. Farragut," by James Barnes; "Robert E. Lee," by W. P. Trent; "James Russell Lowell," by Edward Everett Hale, Jr.; and "Daniel Webster," by Norman Hapgood. They will shortly publish the second five volumes of the series, which will include "Franklin," by Lindsay Swift; "Audubon," by John Burroughs; "Aaron Burr," by Henry Childs Merwin; "J. Fenimore Cooper," by W. B. Shubrick Clymer; and "Edwin Booth," by Charles Townsend Copeland.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. have just ready "Letters of Carlyle to His Youngest Sister," edited, with an introduction, by Charles T. Copeland, who has taken a most judicious view of his duties in editing these letters, written to Mrs. Hanning, in Canada, from 1832 to the end of his life, and has supplied a biographical connection that is full of interesting facts. They also issue "Throne-Makers," by William Roscoe Thayer, a collection of essays, the first four relating to the "throne-makers," Bismarck, Napoleon III., Kossuth, and Garibaldi, and the remaining ones to Carlyle, Tintoret, Giordano Bruno, and Bryant; "Corn Plants," by Frederick Le Roy Sargent, giving a clear account of the six important grain plants of the world—wheat, oats, rye, barley, rice, and maize; and "Tent of Grace," a story by Adeline C. Lust, dealing with the deep-rooted race distinctions between Christian and Jew, of which the scene is Germany, and the time the middle of the century.

R. H. RUSSELL has just ready a production by the much-abused spring poet, whose title, "Just Rhymes," while very appropriate, is hardly comprehensive enough, for, besides "just rhymes," the book contains a number of very clever illustrations by Miss F. V. Cory. As Mr. Charles Battell Loomis, who is responsible for the rhymes, says in his exceedingly short preface, (for which he apologises, however, by saying that it is necessary, if for no other reason than to make the volume bigger,) Miss Cory's pictures furnish an excellent reason for the republication in book form of the rhymes, which have appeared from time to time in Harper's, The Century, Puck, Life, The Criterion, etc., as they happened to fall into the hands of the "right editor." The book, which is bound in boards, and cleverly decorated in color by the artist, is affectionately dedicated by the author to himself. He has added to the souvenirs of Maude Adams in "The Little Minister," and of Olga Nethersole in some of the plays from her repertoire, a unique set of designs by the talented young artist, Pamela Colman Smith, illustrating some of the most picturesque characters in "Trelawny of the Wells." Each print is carefully touched up by hand and enclosed in a colored "folder." The subjects presented are "Rose Trelawny," "Imogen," "Rosen and Imogen," "Imogen and Tom Wrench," in all the color of their old-fashioned costumes, as they appear on the stage.

FOREIGN NOTES.

R. B. MARSTON, of the firm of Sampson Low, Marston & Co., St. Dunstan's House, Fetter Lane, London, E.C., would like to hear from any one having imperfect copies of the first edition (1653) of Walton's "Angler."

CHATTO & WINDUS, London, will publish directly "True Tales of Travel and Adventure," a new volume of stories of the experiences of Harry De Windt; also, a new novel by Cosmo Hamilton, entitled "Through a Keyhole."

MACMILLAN & Co. will publish at once a new and cheaper edition of the "Life of Alfred Lord Tennyson," by his son who, as most people are aware, is now on his way to Australia to take up his duties as a colonial governor.

DUCKWORTH & Co., 3 Henrietta St., Covent Garden, London, will publish this month a novel entitled "A Son of the Sea," by John Arthur Barry, who is known for his sea fiction, as exemplified by his tale entitled "Steve Brown's Bunyip."

T. FISHER UNWIN, London, will publish shortly "The Early Mountaineers," by Francis Gribble, which is spoken of as the first attempt to place a complete record of early mountaineering enterprise within the reach of the general reader. The volume will be profusely illustrated.

HUTCHINSON & Co., London, are about to publish a volume by Mrs. Hilda Gamlin, entitled "Nelson's Friendships," which presents the great admiral among his friends rather than as a naval hero, and gives a fresh view of his life, obtained by the help of authentic matter hitherto unpublished.

THE Prussian Ministry of Education on March 22 issued a circular notifying the publishing trade through its official organization, the Börsenverein, that after Easter 1901 no school-books bound or put together with wire or other metallic contrivances will be accepted by the schools. This is a modification of the order prohibiting publishers and booksellers to sell, after the date mentioned above, school-books that were not bound, sewed, or put together with thread instead of wire.

A NEW terror of the literary life is reported from England. The editor of a three-penny magazine has forwarded to such men of letters as he considers eminent or amiable enough for his purpose a pudding-basin full of gelatinous matter, with the request that they will have it warmed, press their feet well into it, and send it back. This pleasing performance is to the end that the intelligent readers of the three-penny magazine may be able to consider whether each writer has the sort of foot that would be expected from a perusal of his works, or whether the works of a man with a foot like that seem likely to be worth reading. It is rumored that one man of letters, favored with this delicate attention, sent back the basin of gelatinous matter to the editor with the request that he press his head well into it.

BUSINESS NOTES.

BOSTON, MASS.—Since 1896 the Old Corner Book Store, at Washington and Milk Streets, although running under the name of Damrell & Upham, has been under the sole proprietorship of Henry M. Upham. But Mr. Upham now has a partner, George A. Moore, although the firm-name will remain as at present. Mr. Moore has been the buyer for the Old Corner since 1890, taking that place at the unusually early age of twenty, having been born in Boston in 1870. While attending the English High School in 1885 he decided to go into business, and became a boy in the store where he is now a partner, with the firm of Cupples, Upham & Co., which had succeeded A. Williams & Co. in 1883. The Old Corner has just closed its seventieth year as a bookstore. It was in 1828 that Carter & Hendee began the business that has gone down through Ticknor & Fields, E. P. Dutton & Co., and Alexander Williams to the present day.

ELLSWORTH, ME.—Frederick A. Coombs has sold his stationery and book store to K. K. Thompson, of Trenton. Miss Minnie Thompson will carry on the business at the same stand.

JAMESBORO, ARK.—J. T. Edgar, bookseller, has sold out.

LANCASTER, PA.—Lydia M. Flynn, bookseller and stationer, is selling out.

NEWARK, N. J.—Noah Farnham Morrison will remove to 893 Broad Street, a few doors below his present quarters. He will have largely increased floor space and be able to make a better display.

NEW YORK CITY.—William Jackson, for six years with Leggat Brothers, and during the last four years buyer for Abrahams & Strauss of Brooklyn, and John Hovendon, who hardly needs an introduction to the trade, have formed a partnership under the firm name of Jackson & Hovendon, and have bought the second-hand book business of Thomas Keane, at 28 Ann Street. They expect to make a first-class bookstore of the place.

PERRY, N. Y.—E. H. Wygant has sold his book and stationery business here to S. F. Lang, who for the past three years has conducted the same kind of business in Coopers-town.

PITTSFIELD, MASS.—Talbott Brothers, booksellers, have dissolved partnership.

AUCTION SALES.

[We shall be pleased to insert under this heading, without charge, advance notices of auction sales to be held anywhere in the United States. Word must reach us before Wednesday evening, to be in time for issue of same week.]

APRIL 21, 3 P.M.—Miscellaneous, including a remarkable collection of architectural plates. (293 lots.)—Bangs.

APRIL 22, 3 P.M.—Early English literature, early printed books, old American almanacs, etc. (296 lots.)—Bangs.

APRIL 24-28, 3 P.M.—The fifth part of the stock of George H. Richmond & Co., successors to D. G. Francis and S. B. Luyster. (1501-3000 lots.)—Bangs. The sixth is in preparation.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," subscribers only are entitled to a free insertion of five lines for books out of print, exclusive of address (in any issue except special numbers), to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents per line, and amount should be enclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents per line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the charge is 10 cents per line.

All other small, undisplaced, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents per nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

Parties desiring to receive answers to their advertisements through this office must either call for them or enclose postage stamps with their orders for the insertion of such advertisements. In all cases we must have the full address of advertisers, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal only on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word Cash.

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

For advertising rates see page 596, issue for April 1, 1899.

Have Ready To-Day:

In the International Theological Library.

THE THEOLOGY OF THE NEW TESTAMENT.

By GEORGE B. STEVENS, Ph.D., D.D., Professor of Systematic Theology in Yale University. Octavo, $2.50 net.

The aim of this volume is to set forth, in systematic form, the doctrinal contents of the New Testament according to its natural divisions. The book is not apologetic or controversial; it is expository, not defensive.

ON THE EDGE OF THE EMPIRE.

By EDGAR JEPSON and Captain D. BEAMES. 12mo, $1.50.

The "Empire" in this book is the British Empire, and its "edge" the Indian frontier. The striking qualities of the stories collected under this descriptive title are the intensity and vividness that characterize Anglo-Saxon adventures, and the wealth and accuracy of the local color of which the scene is so prodigal. The following headings of the several parts of the book give some idea of its scene and character—In the Lines; On the Bloody Border; In the Bazaar; Elsewhere.

RETROSPECTS AND PROSPECTS.

Descriptive and Historical Essays. By SIDNEY LANIER. 12mo, $1.50.

A volume of hitherto uncollected papers, which, while covering a wide range of subjects, are all marked by a strong, earnest, and eager attitude on the part of the author toward the world, and by a vigorous literary treatment characteristic of the author's writings in prose. These qualities will give the volume a special interest for the admirers of Mr. Lanier's poetry.

FOUR IMPORTANT BOOKS:

IN THE KLONDYKE.

By FREDERICK PALMER. With many illustrations from photographs. 12mo, $1.50.

A most satisfactory account of a winter journey, as well as of a winter residence, in the Klondyke. The author has put into his book more facts of real significance, and has succeeded in conveying a better idea of a Klondyke mining town, than has thus far been accessible elsewhere.

ON THE SOUTH AFRICAN FRONTIER.

By WILLIAM HARVEY BROWN. With 32 illustrations and 2 maps. 8vo, $3.00.

"This is by all odds the best story of adventure which the new year has brought. It is modestly yet graphically told, it is all true, and great events figure in its pages."—Boston Journal.

THE LIFE OF DANTON.

By HILAIRE BELLOC. With portrait. 440 pp., octavo, $2.50.

The first biography in English of the great Revolutionary leader that is founded on original documents.

"A book which no student of the French Revolution can afford to neglect."—M. W. H. in the New York Sun.

HOW TO KNOW THE FERNS. A Guide to the Names, Haunts, and Habits of Our Native Ferns.

By MRS. FRANCES T. PARSONS (formerly Mrs. Dana). With 144 illustrations. Crown 8vo, $1.50 net.

"The inspiration that entered into and made 'How to Know the Wild Flowers' so deservedly popular has not been lost in 'How to Know the Ferns.' . . . A world of beauty and of charm is opened up."—New York Times.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS, New York.
